

Ashe

Announces UK tour + adds extra date at O2 Shepherd's Bush Empire after selling out two London dates at Lafayette

Debut album, 'Ashlyn', out now on Mom + Pop Music
(Listen here)

"Rising pop force...taking sole control of her artistry" CLASH

"Buoyant...pop-driven piano ballads" The Line of Best Fit

"A formidable new force in the pop world" NME

"[An] effortless voice" The FADER

Hot on the heels of the release of her beautiful debut album, 'Ashlyn', out now on Mom + Pop Music, rising star Ashe announces London dates in 2021 and a UK tour in 2022. Ashe is set to play two consecutive shows at London's Lafayette on 13th and 14th September 2021, which rapidly sold out last week, so a date at the prestigious O2 Shepherd's Bush Empire in 2022 has been added today due to exceptional demand. The young Californian artist has also shared details of her UK tour in 2022, with dates in Manchester, Glasgow, Leeds, Birmingham and Dublin, tickets here. Recently, Ashe performed 'Moral of the Story' on ITV's This Morning here, 'Me Without You' on Late Night With Seth Meyers here, duetted with FINNEAS on 'Till Forever Falls Apart' on Today here and 'xxx' on American Idol here.

Ashe's latest single, 'Me Without You', dropped last week and was accompanied by a striking video with creative direction by Ashe and directed by Jason Lester (LAUV & Conan Gray, Sabrina Carpenter), watch here. Ashe's debut album 'Ashlyn' is the follow-up to 'Moral of the Story' Chapters 1 & 2 (a double EP executive produced by FINNEAS). Building elaborate symphonies around her most intimate revelations, Ashe adorns her new songs with elements of everything from orchestral pop to grandiose '70s rock to sublimely timeless piano balladry. 'Ashlyn' also includes her acclaimed collaboration with FINNEAS 'Till Forever Falls Apart' (which has amassed 63 million streams since its March release), her monster hit 'Moral Of the Story' (with 803 million streams to date - watch her performance with Niall from Royal Albert Hall for The Late Late show here) and her breakout track 'Save Myself'.

Listen to 'Ashlyn' HERE

A graduate from the prestigious Berklee College of Music, Ashe's meteoric rise includes amassing nearly a million Instagram followers, over 9.5 million monthly Spotify listeners, one million TikTok followers and over 2.5 billion video views. Ashe recently contributed an original song, 'The Same', to the new film and soundtrack, To All The Boys I've Loved Before, her second placement in the wildly popular Netflix franchise. She made her stunning late-night TV debut alongside Niall Horan on The Late Late Show with James Corden, taped at London's famed Royal Albert Hall watch it here, and her daytime debut on Ellen at the top of 2021 here.

2021 is proving to be an incredibly exciting year for the young artist; Ashe has been named a YouTube Music Artist on the Rise, where she will produce a unique content series including a performance and immersive mini documentary that will give fans an inside look into Ashe's musical journey so far. She also performed for GRAMMY.com's 'Reimagined At Home' series, watch her take on Norah Jones' classic track 'Don't Know Why' HERE.

UK/Ireland tour dates:

13/9/21 - Lafayette, London (sold out)

14/9/21 - Lafayette, London (sold out)

23/5/22 - The Helix, Dublin

25/5/22 - O2 Ritz, Manchester

26/5/22 - SWG3, Glasgow

28/5/22 - Stylus, Leeds

30/5/22 - O2 Institute, Birmingham

31/5/22 - O2 Shepherd's Bush Empire, London

'Ashlyn' album artwork
Photo credit: Dana Trippe

Follow Ashe:

Website / Instagram / Facebook / YouTube / Twitter

For more information please contact Ruth, Beth or Molly @toastpress.com